

Ozone generator – Aviagen Kft

Aviagen Kft is a poultry breeder company. We breed grandparents flocks and hatch their eggs in own Hatchery in Mezőörs. Some years ago we started to look for alternative methods of egg disinfection in farms. We have good experiments with ozone, the first experiences were favorable. After many success trials we decide to start using this technology in our production farms. The first machine was put into operation from 8th of May in this year. At the moment we use 10 generator and we will start using an other one in next year. This machine produces ozone in the egg storage room after the workers collected the eggs and put into there. We have good connection with the producers of generators they help us in all questions immidiately. Some pictures below.
